Accidental Death Insurance

Accidental Death insurance provides benefits in the event of a death that is the result of an accident that was not the result of an intentional act or a medical condition.

The challenge:
Most medical providers are trained only in medicine, not in contract law (insurance coverage issues). Yet, many physicians find themselves answering questions loaded with insurance and legal terminology that they are unfamiliar with. As a result conclusions are often inaccurate. Our physicians are trained in interpreting and applying insurance terminology to reliable medical data.
